Titles and Descriptions

Canada Year Book 2001 (Print-Non-Fiction). Communications Division of Statistics Canada. Statistics Canada (STATS), 2001. 563 p. ISBN 0-660-18360-9.

This Government of Canada publication would be an appropriate reference book for teachers of Senior 1 to 4 social studies. It provides a wide variety of Canadian statistics related to the environment, demographics, the economy, and the nation. These statistics are presented in table form. Trends and statistical profiles are offered in written form. Statistical maps and graphs are included, along with photographs, as well as a reading list at the end of each chapter. This book offers a fascinating profile of modern Canada through statistics, and gives a 21st-century perspective to our ever-changing country. Teachers should note that the data is already several years old, but this is not uncommon when using statistical publications. Grade-appropriate exercises could be developed using the charts or graphs for individual enrichment of text or curriculum materials (e.g., graphing, analyzing the meaning of tables…). History teachers could make comparative studies of social and economic trends. Geography teachers could look at changing demographics, income levels, resources, et cetera.

The material is organized into five short books: Canada and the Global Village, Canada's System of Government, Canadian Citizenship, Canadian Unity, and Canadian Identity. The series provides a succinct, well-organized introduction to a variety of the learning outcomes. This series has multiple uses. It works well as a teacher or student resource, or as a set of texts, depending on the needs of the individual learner. Each book provides the reader with a table of contents, concise articles, well laid-out pictures and captions, charts, maps, timelines, and sidebars that provide relevant facts. The conclusion provides a review, suggestions for further research, a glossary, and an index.

It is a rich resource that focuses on Canadian history and, in particular, the development of culture, identity, and diversity. It provides a detailed context for current Canadian issues, including Aboriginal perspectives, gender roles, minority issues, immigration policies, and French-English relations. The relationship between Canada's history and its culture and identity is explored throughout the text, and is well supported by pictures of historical documents and photographs. Although this integrated resource was created for the Ontario Grade 10 Civics curriculum, the student text and teacher guide provide breadth and depth support for almost all of the learning outcomes in the Manitoba Senior 1 social studies curriculum. The material provides for a variety of learning styles and teaching methods. The text includes unit openers, chapter openers, discussion topics, web connections, anecdotal information, case studies, examples of the lives of citizens and politicians, chapter reviews, and unit reviews. The web connections are easy to access and navigate, and provide depth for many topics covered in the text. Although a video is referenced in the teacher guide, it is too advanced and somewhat inappropriate for Senior 1.

A Place of Honour: Manitoba's War Dead Commemorated in its Geography (Print-Non-Fiction). Manitoba Geographical Names Program. Manitoba Conservation (ManC), 2002. 288 p. ISBN 0-7711-1523-7.

This book would be a useful teacher resource for teachers who like to use new and innovative ways to teach local geography. The book gives in-depth descriptions of Manitoba war veterans who were killed in World War I and II, and includes letters from the veterans and family correspondence during the wars. Due to the fact that there are so many veterans with gravesites overseas or no gravesite at all, geographic sites have been used to commemorate their memories and allow their families a place to visit that is close to home. The book connects geography with history and helps to promote an understanding of the events that occurred during World War I and II. It would be appropriate in Senior 1 social studies for citizenship or Remembrance Day study, and as an alternative enrichment activity in Senior 2 geography.
